About PTSF

Pennsylvania Trauma Systems Foundation (PTSF) is a non-profit organization authorized by the Emergency Medical Services (EMS) Act of 1985 as the accrediting body for trauma centers in Pennsylvania. Our mission is Optimal Outcomes for Every Injured Patient. The PTSF accomplishes this mission not just through the hospital accreditation process, but through support and education of trauma program staff. This includes Trauma Program Medical Directors, Trauma Program Managers/Coordinators, Performance Improvement Coordinators, Registrars, Injury Prevention Coordinators, and Researchers. PTSF also encourages trauma system development efforts and collaborates with many community partners, such as EMS, to support initiatives that enhance the care of injured patients. As of January 01, 2025, PTSF accredits 55 trauma programs at 52 trauma centers. Currently, seven additional hospitals are pursuing trauma center accreditation.

About ATSPA

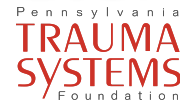

The American Trauma Society, Pennsylvania Division, is a non-profit organization committed to injury prevention and mitigation through education, intervention, and advocacy. Our work provides presentations, resources, and educational materials related to trauma prevention. Topics include concussions, water safety, senior falls, bike safety, Stop the Bleed, traffic safety, and much more.

About the Conference

PTSF and ATSPA will host an annual statewide conference for trauma center staff to share current trends in trauma care, present cutting-edge trauma research, and promote networking among trauma program leaders. In 2024, over 250 registrants attended the conference.

Sponsorship Opportunities

The 2025 Trauma Symposium will accommodate up to 15 sponsorship opportunities. To enhance access to conference attendees, sponsor tables are placed in high traffic areas outside of the main conference meeting areas. Two sponsorship options are available, see below. Please visit the PTSF Website to register. For additional assistance, please contact Dor Adams, PTSF Finance Specialist. — dadams@ptsf.org
